Whole School trip to White Platts – Thursday 9th October

Ambleside Parish Council have very kindly invited the whole school to take part in a morning of fun and games at White Platts, followed by a delicious ice-cream.

Attached to this communication is the letter previously circulated by Mr Morgan.

Hello Yellow Day – Friday 10th October

We will again be taking part in 'Hello Yellow Day' to show our support for the charity Young Minds. On this day, we ask that everyone in the school community come to school wearing something yellow. This could be a t-shirt, pair of socks or as small as a yellow hair bobble. Please note – we do not expect families to buy something especially for this event.

With taking part, we would love to raise some money for this fantastic charity and ask that each child/family bring a small monetary donation into school.

As a school, we put a huge emphasis on talking to the children about their mental and physical health and wellbeing and this interwoven into each and every day. During 'Hello Yellow Day', each class will take part in additional activities focusing on mental health and wellbeing.

Oak

What a week of learning! Little Oak popped on their maths and literacy hats this week. Using their focus vocabulary of longer, shorter, heavier, lighter, bigger and smaller, they tested, tried and applied their knowledge to anything that could move. From snapping sticks to digging up dinosaurs, the children have been eager to put them under the microscope, measure their length and use scales to compare their mass. In Literacy, the children have been collaboratively crafting a top-secret project, drawing upon the lovely library van visit for inspiration. They are extremely excited to share their creation with you during our Stay and Play next Wednesday.

This week in Big Oak, the children have been busy creating their very own story, 'The Gruffalo's

Friends!' The children have used the character descriptions they carefully crafted to help them write dialogue and bring their ideas to life. In Maths, they have been investigating addition and subtraction while practising number bonds to 10 and 20 to help everyone become more confident and speedy problem-solvers.

Maple

The children in Maple have continued to work their socks off in their English lessons. After finishing their story narratives last week, they have taken on the task of writing diaries from the point of view of Tad. They spent time recalling the main features of a diary, before planning and then writing their first person entries. On Thursday, along with the rest of school, Maple class took part in National Poetry Day. They focussed on creating poetry based off their favourite school memories.

Weaving have continued to take the class by storm this week. Most people have now perfected the art of weaving and have been adding in additional colours (and shapes) to their initial pieces. Miss McGraw has been overwhelmed by the uptake of weaving at home too – good job everyone ☺

The library van visit is always a favourite and Maple class enjoyed perusing and selecting some new books for the classroom on Wednesday afternoon.
